

Your Primary Communication DNA Style is Goal-Setting

A person who is focused on goals is interested in opportunities to expand their world.

Unique Communication Keys for Jack Sun:

Your communication strength:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Comfortable speaking directly and candidly
You like to be communicated with on the following terms:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Provide options • Get to the bottom line • Present opportunities
You learn by:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Taking action and discussion
Your information requirement:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Big picture
Conversation starter:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What has been a success for you recently?

Building Relationships

There are 4 Communication DNA Styles: Goal-Setting, Lifestyle, Stability and Information. Adaptive individuals are naturally flexible in relation to the 4 primary styles.

To learn more about each communication style and how to interact with them, visit <http://www.communicationdna.com>.

Sharing builds trust and relationships – send your Report to those you interact with.

Your Primary Communication DNA Style is Lifestyle

A person who is focused on lifestyle desires engagement, openness and making connections.

Unique Communication Keys for Helen Jones:

Your communication strength:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Being open, engaging and communicating with enthusiasm
You like to be communicated with on the following terms:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Openly express views • Verbalize • Provide broad facts
You learn by:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Intuition and pictures
Your information requirement:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Use graphics
Conversation starter:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Who have you connected with lately?

Building Relationships

There are 4 Communication DNA Styles: Goal-Setting, Lifestyle, Stability and Information. Adaptive individuals are naturally flexible in relation to the 4 primary styles.

To learn more about each communication style and how to interact with them, visit <http://www.communicationdna.com>.

Sharing builds trust and relationships – send your Report to those you interact with.

Your Primary Communication DNA Style is Stability

A person with a need for stability is interested in safety and living in a calm environment.

Unique Communication Keys for Craig Moon:

Your communication strength:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Conveying empathy and warmth when communicating
You like to be communicated with on the following terms:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Keep it relaxed • Speak softly • Share your feelings
You learn by:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sensory and feeling
Your information requirement:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Provide instructions
Conversation starter:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How do you spend time with your family and community?

Building Relationships

There are 4 Communication DNA Styles: Goal-Setting, Lifestyle, Stability and Information. Adaptive individuals are naturally flexible in relation to the 4 primary styles.

To learn more about each communication style and how to interact with them, visit <http://www.communicationdna.com>.

Sharing builds trust and relationships – send your Report to those you interact with.

Your Primary Communication DNA Style is Information

A person with a need for information likes to analyze and focus on the tangible.

Unique Communication Keys for Joshua Connor:

Your communication strength:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Good at providing specifics and details
You like to be communicated with on the following terms:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Provide facts • Provide specifics • Demonstrate transparency
You learn by:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Concrete examples and reading
Your information requirement:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Provide research
Conversation starter:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What is a new idea you have read about lately?

Building Relationships

There are 4 Communication DNA Styles: Goal-Setting, Lifestyle, Stability and Information. Adaptive individuals are naturally flexible in relation to the 4 primary styles.

To learn more about each communication style and how to interact with them, visit <http://www.communicationdna.com>.

Sharing builds trust and relationships – send your Report to those you interact with.

Your Primary Communication DNA Style is Adaptive

A person with an adaptive style is flexible in their communication, desiring a balance between steadiness and a to the point approach.

Unique Communication Keys for Kim Grant:

Your communication strength:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Good at listening and leading focused conversations
You like to be communicated with on the following terms:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Keep it relaxed • Provide specifics • Be courteous
You learn by:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sensory and concrete examples
Your information requirement:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Provide well-thought-out input
Conversation starter:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What has been your most enjoyable interaction lately?

Building Relationships

There are 4 Communication DNA Styles: Goal-Setting, Lifestyle, Stability and Information. Adaptive individuals are naturally flexible in relation to the 4 primary styles.

To learn more about each communication style and how to interact with them, visit <http://www.communicationdna.com>.

Sharing builds trust and relationships – send your Report to those you interact with.